Local business supplies Hi Tech solution for “Londons Most Expensive House”

March 2011

When you are employing teams of international craftsmen from around the globe to undertake intricate plaster and woodwork, you need the environment controlled to avoid temperature or humidity damage. When its “Londons Most Expensive House” you need to be doubly sure the environment is right!

One of the capitals costliest restoration project in a very long time, the property at 100 Park Lane, overlooking Hyde Park, is being renovated and the plans include up to 17 bedrooms and a 50 foot ballroom, 80 foot picture gallery, and 14 reception rooms, with a price tag measured in 10’s of millions of pounds, it demands the highest standards.

Caption Data Ltd of Worcester have supplied 38 “Black-boxes” to monitor environmental conditions and send SMS or email alarms in the case of any problems. Called RDL//nano’s they monitor temperature and humidity in the rooms, and fluid levels and power in the dehumidifiers.

Taking measurements every few minutes, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, for the duration of the restoration project they report back via the mobile phone network to an internet bureau. All authorised parties can then access the data to monitor conditions.

The restoration project is due to run for a year while craftsman from around the globe decorate and finish the mansion to its new owners’ tastes. Meanwhile Caption Data
